AGED FISHERMAN FOUND DEAD IN HIS BOAT TODAY

WM. DEPUY DISCOVERED THE OLD GENTLEMAN IN HIS BOAT.

HIS DOG GUARDED HIS BODY

CARL M. ALBENSON, OLD RESIDENT OF LEE COUNTY, DIED FROM EXPOSURE.

LOST, WAITED IN WILLOWS FOR DAWN

Body Was Lying in Eight Inches of Water—Dog Fought Discoverer Away—Mr. Albenson Was Highly Educated Gentleman and Had Held Prominent Positions.

With his pet dog, his companion of years, guarding faithfully, the dead body of Carl M. Albenson, an aged fisherman, was found in his boat among the willows along Rock river, about two and a half miles east of this city at 8 o'clock this forenoon. The old man, enroute to his cabin on Andrus Island, had evidently become confused in the mist on the river last night and had drawn up among the willows to await the morning's sun. But the cold and dampness penetrated to the marrow and the old man, alone with the little animal who for years had shared his humble cabin, succumbed to the effects of the cold and exposure.

Mr. Albenson's body was discovered by Wm. H. Depuy, who lives east of this city and who has been trapping along the river. It was while running his traps on the west side of the river this morning that he noticed Albenson's boat among the willows of a bayou on the east side of the stream. But he attached no importance to the fact, as the little yellow dog was seated in the bow of the craft, and Depuy naturally thought the aged man was on the river bank somewhere.

Dog's Barks Attract.

However, when Mr. Depuy, running his traps on the east side of the stream, again drew near the boat, the dog commenced to bark excitedly and, attracted by the dog's action, he rowed out to Albenson's boat. As he drew near he saw the aged man reclining in the bottom of the boat, with his head pillowed on the hard seat. He called, but received no response and then he pushed his boat swiftly against that in which the man was lying, hoping thus to arouse him from his apparent slumber. The jar of the two boats failed to bring any response from Albenson, but the action brought Depuy's craft close enough for him to see that the old fisherman was lying in about eight inches of water.

At once Depuy concluded that the man was dead, and he attempted to get hold of the line to tie the boat up, after which he planned to summon help. But Albenson's dog faithfully frustrated any attempt to touch the boat, snarling and snapping whenever Depuy reached for the rope.

Sheriff Notified.

Accordingly the discoverer was compelled to leave the boat pushed up on the bank, where it was evident Mr. Albenson had pushed it, and he hastened to a neighboring farm house, from which place he notified Sheriff Reid. The official immediately responded and the body of the aged man was brought to the Morris & Preston undertaking rooms where the inquest was held this morning.

In the boat were many coats, on which Albenson was lying, some groceries which he had evidently purchased in Dixon yesterday, a pint flask of whisky, part of which had been drunk, and a lantern.

Theory of His Death.

It is known that Mr. Albenson, who for many years has camped on the Andrus island during the summer months, was in Dixon yesterday, purchasing groceries. Also while in the city he visited B. F. Downing's real estate office, where he paid one month's rent on a house on East Fellows street, into which he expected to move soon, to spend the winter in the city.

ABE MARTIN

Mrs. Asbury Gum is peelin' termalors at th' cannery thoe married. Live o you kin go t' thee-ater without nakin your neighbor mad.

Enroute to his cabin three miles up stream, he stopped at the Chas. F. Andres home, where he conversed with the family for some time, before leaving for his cabin, shortly after 4 o'clock.

Mr. Albenson remarked to the Andres family several times during his conversation with the members, that he felt exceptionally well.

It is believed, however, that after getting out on the river, dusk began to fall and that the old man, who was exceedingly near-sighted, became confused, as he had told of times when he had been lost on the stream. Probably, while rowing steadily to find some familiar landmark, the cold and dampness of the evening, settling down over the river penetrated through the old man's clothing and, stiffened by the chill air, he pushed the boat into the bayou, hoping to remain there until morning.

And while drowsy from the effects of the exposure he was undergoing, he probably fell asleep, from which slumber he never awakened, for when the body was found this morning it was frozen.

Inquest This Morning.

Coroner Smith came to Dixon on the morning passenger in response to the summons and the inquest was held at the Morris & Preston undertaking rooms, the jury returning a verdict of death from cold, exposure and old age. The jurors were Clinton Judd, foreman; W. W. Phillips, E. H. Rickard, John Salzman, M. J. Burright and John M. Sterling.

But four witnesses were examined. C. H. Fallstrom, a nephew of the aged man, told of the life and family connections, while Chas. F. Anderson testified to the old man's residence on the island and his habits. Wm. H. Depuy told of finding the body, and Sheriff Reid described the conditions as he found them when he answered the call.

Was Well Respected.

Carl M. Albenson who, after arriving in this country in 1866 from Sweden, where he was born in 1834, had his name legally changed from Fallstrom to Albenson, was well thought of, especially during his earlier life, when for a number of years residence in Chicago he was a companion of some of the most prominent men of the city.

He was well acquainted in the old country and prospered during his residence in this country. From 1885 to 1893 he was assistant general agent of the Citizens' League in Chicago and as such became intimate with such men as Judge Kersten, Judge Prindaville and many of the older officials in Cook county. During that time he owned a farm in Marion township, this county, which he sold in 1895, moving with his wife to Amboy. They came to Dixon from Amboy and lived here considerable time, going to Chicago in 1901. Mrs. Albenson died in Chicago that year, and since then the aged man has made his home in Dixon, living part of the time with his niece Mrs. R. H. Espy, and spending his summers in his cabin up the river, where he fished and raised chickens.

Funeral Tomorrow.

As far as is known the funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Morris & Preston's chapel, with burial at Oakwood cemetery. Several friends of the old gentleman will arrive in Dixon from Chicago to attend the last sad rites.

Officer Chadley of the state reformatory at Pontiac, was here today looking into the records of Paul Pettit, a former Palmyra boy who has given the authorities considerable trouble in the past.

R. R. IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION MET

GENTLEMEN INTERESTED IN MAKING ROCK RIVER NAVIGABLE HOLD MEETING.

HELD IN ROCKFORD--

ELECTED OFFICERS

Wm. Meese of Moline Elected President to Succeed I. F. Edwards of Dixon—Mayor Brinton on Executive Committee—Association Confident of Success.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 16.—Special to Telegraph—The Rock River Improvement association met today at the Elks club in this city in response to the call sent out by Hon. I. F. Edwards, president of the association, and was well represented by every town from Janesville, Wis., to Sterling, Ill.

Ways and means for the improvement of the river so that it may become navigable were discussed, new officers were elected and resolutions regarding the carrying on of the good work were adopted. The government survey of the river being about completed the report will soon be turned in to the war department, and congress will decide what is to be done with Rock river. If the report is favorable, as the members of the association meeting here today seem to be quite confident it will be, Rock river will be dredged and locks will be put in at all dams so that big boats and barges may operate all along the stream from the entrance of the Hennepin feeder at Sterling to Janesville in the Badger state.

The matter of joining the National Rivers and Harbor congress was discussed and the association decided to send representatives to the session of the National Rivers and Harbors congress in Washington, D. C. during the first week of December. It was decided that it would be necessary to have money to carry on the work and each city within the scope of the proposed improvement will be asked to contribute a share.

The newly elected officers are going to push the work in earnest and this winter will be a busy one, for it was decided that the time for action had arrived. The members seemed quite confident that their efforts will result in the attainment of the prize for which they are striving.

The officers elected were: Wm. A. Meese, president, to succeed Hon. I. F. Edwards of Dixon, whose work in the organization has been very effective; Thomas D. Reber, Rockford, vice president; John N. Stager, Sterling, secretary and Geo. S. Parker, Janesville, treasurer. Mayor W. B. Brinton of Dixon was elected a member of the executive committee.

GRAND DETOUR CO. PERFECTS NEW PLOW

LOCAL PLOW COMPANY PUTS A HIGHLY RECOMMENDED PLOW ON MARKET.

The Grand Detour Plow company of this city has recently completed the perfection of an engine gang plow of its own design and the indications are that the new plow will be the most popular on the market next year, as many firms with whom he company has been dealing have been sending men here to investigate the new machine, and all pronounce it the best on the market.

Last year the local factory furnished all of the gang plows for the Rumley company, but during the coming season there is no doubt a great many other big concerns will be added to the list of the company's customers. The new plow is pronounced by experts to be far better than anything that has yet been put forth and as these experts are from large concerns in Minneapolis, Kansas City LaPorte, Battle Creek and other big cities, their opinion is certainly an approval of the plow.

As a result of the progressiveness of the local officials the prospects for the plow shop are most excellent, and next year the plant will undoubtedly be driven to its full capacity, which has been greatly increased with the addition of the large blacksmith shop which has just been completed.

NEW ANAESTHETIC KILLS PATIENT

First Fatal Termination of Demonstrations of Advanced Surgery.

CHEMICAL CONGRESS ADJOURNS

One Doctor Removes Stomach of Sufferer, Cuts Away Cancerous Growth and Puts Stomach Back—New Resuscitation Method.

New York, Nov. 16.—The first fatal termination of the series of remarkable demonstrations of advanced surgery now in progress during the session of the clinical congress of surgeons of North America occurred at the New York Polyclinic hospital when George Hart, a sufferer from hernia, died from the effects of the newly discovered local anaesthetic, stovaine.

After the injection of stovaine into the spinal cord the patient suddenly began to sink and despite the efforts of the score of famous surgeons clustered about the operating table, died. This is one of the rare cases in which stovaine has acted adversely.

Sheep's Leg in Man's Arm. At the Mount Sinai hospital another detachment of surgeons saw a sheep leg substituted for the decayed bone of a man's arm and the arm, when the bones have knit, made as good as new.

One of the most delicate operations of the congress was performed at the Post Graduate hospital, where Dr. Robert Abbe removed a patient's stomach, lifting it with catgut treated with iodine, cut away a cancer and put the stomach back.

Doctor Luckett at the Harlem hospital repaired a broken back by wiring together the broken vertebrae.

New Resuscitation Method. Dr. G. A. Mack, one of the leading surgeons of Ohio, exhibited at the City hospital a new method of resuscitation by which it is possible to restore life after the heart beats have stopped several seconds.

A buzz saw run by electricity for opening the skull was demonstrated at Bellevue hospital by Dr. J. A. Hardwell. The saw, which is a circular blade about half an inch in diameter, receives its power through wiring placed within the handle. A vital part of the device is the guard which prevents the saw from biting any deeper into the skull than the surgeon wants it to go.

Clinical Congress Adjourns. The congress, which has been attended during the past week in the Waldorf-Astoria by more than 3,000 surgeons of prominence in this country and abroad, adjourned to meet next year in Chicago, after one of the busiest days since it opened. Nearly 20 clinics were held in the different hospitals and nearly 1,000 operations and demonstrations were on the program, most of which, however, were of more scientific than popular interest.

At a business session the congress considered the establishment of minimum educational and practical training requirements for medical men which would morally and legally entitle them to practice surgery. Dr. Franklin H. Murphy of Chicago recommended the founding of an American College of Surgeons, similar in purpose to the Royal College of Surgeons of England. This college, he urged, should have the power to grant a supplementary degree to the degree of M. D., which should be known as a fellowship in the college. The recommendation was approved.

DIXONITES COMPOSE SONG

P. A. LENNON AND MISS RICE ARE ORIGINATORS OF A MUSICAL HIT.

"Starlight," a charming waltz song, has been written and composed by Miss Myrtle Fern Rice and Paul A. Lennon of this city, and those who have heard the composition predict a wide sale for it. The melody is appealing and catchy and Miss Rice has shown a pleasing conception of harmony in her arrangement.

The Marquette orchestra is featuring the song at all of its dances, and the swinging rhythm of the music never fails to bring forth hearty applause.

MISS O'MALLEY IS BETTER.

Mrs. James Sullivan and Miss Kittie Murphy of Rockford are here to see Miss Mamie O'Malley at her home. Miss O'Malley, who has been quite ill, is reported improved.

LOCAL BOARD WILL DECIDE NEXT FRIDAY

PERSPECT IS MATTER OF PAVING WILL GO TO COUNTY COURT.

The board of local improvements, after spending several hours yesterday listening to objections to the pavement of Third street, adjourned until next Friday, when a decision as to the board's intention will be made public. In all probability the board will go ahead with its scheme for paving the street, and let the battle against the improvement be fought out in the county court where the assessment roll will, of course, have to be taken for confirmation.

WILSON TO CALL EXTRA SESSION

President-Elect Will Convene the Congress Not Later Than April 15.

SAYS COUNTRY FAVORS MOVE

Governor, Accompanied by Wife and Two Daughters, Sailed for Bermuda This Afternoon—Will Spend Four Weeks on Island.

New York, Nov. 16.—"I shall call congress together in extraordinary session not later than April 15. I shall do this not only because I think the pledges of the party ought to be redeemed as promptly as possible, but also because I know it to be in the interest of business that all uncertainty as to what the particular items of tariff revision are to be should be removed as soon as possible.—Woodrow Wilson."

President-elect Wilson took the first important step towards carrying out his pledges to the people when he announced his purpose of calling an extra session of congress not later than April 15 instead of waiting six months after he assumes the presidency on March 4 for the regular session to convene.

Sentiment Favors Extra Session. As he issued his statement the president-elect remarked:

"The list of members of congress and prominent Democrats throughout the country who had expressed themselves on the subject showed that the sentiment in favor of the calling of an extra session was widespread—I might say almost unanimous. The extra session will have the advantage of giving us an early start towards effecting the reforms to which the Democratic party is pledged."

The president-elect gave out his statement before embarking on his vacation for two reasons. First, as declared in his statement, he desired to remove any uncertainty that might be injurious to the business interests of the country. The second reason was purely selfish as he himself remarked. He wants to spend his vacation in quiet and peace. He realized, he said, that unless the question was settled at this time he would be besieged continually for a definite statement on the subject.

Wilson Sails for Bermuda.

Simultaneously with the issuance of his statement, the president-elect gave permission to say that he is to spend his vacation in Bermuda. He sailed on the steamship Bermudian from the pier of the Quebec Steamship company at West Tenth street and North river at two o'clock this afternoon. The Bermudian was booked solidly and the president-elect has been assured by the officials of the line that there are no politicians among the passengers. The president-elect will spend four weeks on the island, returning to New York December 16. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and the Misses Jessie and Eleanor Wilson. Miss Margaret Wilson, the elder daughter, remained in New York to continue her study of music.

Governor Wilson has leased a little cottage on the island from an American. He requests that its exact location be kept a secret lest he be bombarded by letters from office seekers and politicians. He intends that this shall be a real vacation, free from work and worry. The governor will spend much of his time bicycling and horseback riding.

STANGER ARRESTED FOR DIAMOND THEFT

W. E. PERRY OF MILWAUKEE IS CHARGED WITH STEALING MISS YOUNG'S GEM.

W. E. Perry, who claims he is a salesman for the Peerless Supply Co. of Milwaukee, was arrested at his room in the Nachusa house this afternoon by Sergeant Gaffney for the alleged theft of a diamond, valued at $75, from the room of Miss Young sister of the proprietor of the hotel. When Officer Gaffney arrested the man in his room and searched him he found the diamond on his person. He is now locked up in the city jail, awaiting his hearing.

The following article is copied from the News Palladium of Benton Harbor, Michigan, and the many friends of Attorney Beemer who at one time resided in Dixon, will be interested in reading of his marriage. The article follows:

Hall-Beemer

In the marriage of Miss Lena Elletta Hall of this city and John Beemer of Compton, Ill., at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hall on Fair avenue Tuesday evening, one of Benton Harbor's fairest maidens became a matron. For years a resident of this city, the many local friends know her to possess an enviable disposition as she has comeliness of face.

In the company of people who witnessed the pretty nuptials were only members of the Hall family, of the former Egalite club and a few other intimate friends. The pretty suburban home never presented a more attractive picture for the background of the services. The long living room was a veritable garden of autumn flowers and leaves of the same color lent their brightness to the banks of greenery formed with palms. In one corner of this room, a graceful bower had been constructed of vines, leaves and flowers, and was lighted by partly screened electric bulbs.

As the hour of 5 o'clock approached Miss Agnes Frickey played the "Rose Fable" by C. B. Hawley, and Miss Mable King sang. This number was followed by Carrie Jacobs Bond's selection, "I Love You Truly" which was also sung by Miss King.

As the liquid notes of Mendelssohn's wedding march fell upon the ear, the bride party descended the stairway. Instead of bridesmaids, Mrs. E. C. Bowlby, Mrs. Jesse Hall, Mrs. Ross Hall and Miss Ruth Emery stretched satin ribbons, forming a path to the improvised bower. The bridegroom and minister, Rev. N. A. McCune, were followed by the bride, upon the arm of her father.

Miss Hall's natural beauty was emphasized in her wedding attire. In a dress of embroidered silk net with pearl trimmings over Duchess satin, she made a decidedly attractive picture. Her gown was made entrain. A dainty hair dress of satin ribbon and white aigrette completed costume. She wore the bracelet which her mother wore when she was married. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of valley. The young women who stretched the ribbons were in pink and white lingerie dresses. The pianist wore white lingerie and the soloist was attired in pink chiffon.

Following the solemn Episcopal ring service which was used by Rev. McCune, the customary congratulations were showered upon Mr. and Mrs. Beemer, and then the dining room was thrown open for a two course repast.

This room with its green wall coverings was delicately decorated in pretty pink tones. The bride's table was graced with a centerpiece of pink and white carnations made as a pyramid and resting on a plateau of cut glass. Several small tables circled about the middle one and these were adorned with a single pink candle in a cut glass stick. Sprays of southern amillax were also used. Those who served were former Egalite girls of which Miss Hall was a member. They were Mrs. Christine Marti Baker, who had charge of the dining room and Mesdames Effie Miller Rupert, Julia Frick Jauman, Frances Kinney Murphy and Miss Myrta Warren of Charlotte. Miss Ruth Emery also served. Mrs. A. E. Granger catered.

Mr. Beemer is a graduate of the law department of the Michigan university, but lately has engaged in extensive wheat raising industries. He owns farms in several states. It was while he was in Florida on a business trip that he met his bride. During his visits here he has won his bride's friends for his own. Mr. and Mrs. Beemer will spend the winter in traveling in Texas, Alabama, Arkansas and other southern states and expect to spend a portion of each year in Europe.

In the valuable collection of wedding gifts there was a handsome watch and chain, the groom's gift to the bride, many pieces of cut glass, several sets of silverware, pretty hand painted plates and many other equally pretty and useful articles.

The bride's going away suit was of brown whip cord and she wore a toque of fur with gold lace trimmings.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hall of LaCrosse, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Godfrey of Waterman; Mr. and Mrs. Moore of Eau Claire; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beaton of Millburg and Chas. Stokle of Chicago.

 One is forced to wonder, however, how long it would be before any street was improved if the suggestions of a former city official—that no street should be improved until every property owner on the street petitioned the council—were carried out.

BRITZ HEADQUARTERS
 BY MARCIN BARBER

"Right here," Britz proceeded, "is where an interesting side feature of the mystery comes in. Griswold would have probably been more alert if he had known that men ten times as adroit as he, and a hundred times more unscrupulous, had journeyed half around the world to get one of those very gems he was preparing to steal from the woman he hoped to marry. I don't know exactly what's at the bottom of the interest those Hindoos have in the great Maharane diamond; but I do know they're willing to go pretty close to the electric chair to get it. I understand it was not really bought from the wife of an Indian prince, as Missions told his wife it was. My best information is that it came from a Hindoo temple. You know those savages set great store by their idols. At any rate, from a half-dozen to a dozen Indians of various degrees came here from Calcutta some time ago and camped on the trail of the Maharane diamond. They played a waiting game and, apparently, they were on the point of making a grand effort to get the stone when the head of this organization happened to be in the box next to Mrs. Missioner at the Metropolitan Opera House on the night when the necklace turned out to be a fake. He then learned that the original diamonds were not in the widow's keeping any longer.
 "Griswold also was in the Missioner box that night, as you know, and he must have noticed the Oriental who butted in during the search for the diamonds."
 Britz paused a little, and then resumed:
 "These Hindoos worked about as fast as I did. They must have made up their minds pretty early in the game that Miss Holcomb knew nothing about the necklace and, of course, nobody would be foolish enough to suspect little Miss March. Our dark friends from the East concentrated their attention on Griswold and Sands. For a long time, all had been in Mrs. Missioner's hands. He wasn't, however, Mrs. Missioner's employee in the true sense of the word. He was there as one of the attendants of this Swami chap, along with the other Oriental fellows, one of whom calls himself Prince Karanda. In fact, all was on the job from the day he became a member of Mrs. Missioner's household. He was sent there for the precise purpose of piping off the place, and either getting the big diamond himself, or tipping the Swami and all the rest of them when it would be safe for them to make a try. It stands to reason Mrs. Missioner watched her jewels pretty closely, and that her safe was a jimmied, since that necklace in all those long months could not be lifted by the Hindoo servant. He would have been perfectly willing to throttle her in order to get it had he felt reasonably sure of a getaway as easily after a murder as after a robbery."
 "You must have been reading about All Baba and the Forty Thieves," Britz said Manning with another harsh laugh. "This sounds altogether too much like the Arabian Nights to be the goods."
 "Well, there weren't as many as forty of the thieves, and the All in this case wasn't an honest man. I'm giving it to you straight, Chief. I haven't worked day and night on this proposition for nothing. You'll find it just as I'm telling it to you, and if you'll suspend judgment until I get through, I'll deliver the goods all right."
 "I think," remarked Fitch to Manning, "we shall find that Lieutenant Britz comes pretty near knowing what he is talking about. I've seen him work on this case, and I know something of the facts he has discovered. If you have ever studied the ways of Orientals you'll be surprised at nothing they do. They look at life from altogether a different angle. Life is about the cheapest thing in life to them."
 "Very good," said Manning. "I'm willing to be convinced, but it seems hard to believe that a woman worth a hundred millions could live for months with death hanging over her head in her own household, and yet know nothing about it. What's the use of being a multi-millionaire if you're no safer than in an eighteen-dollar flat? For my part, I don't take much stock in your Hindoos."
 "You'll take a lot of stock in them before the morning is over, Chief. If you stay with us," Britz retorted. "I'm going to show you not only the Hindoos in the act of attempting to get away, but I'll turn up the goods in their possession. They have the diamond now, but I'll have both them and the diamond in a very few hours!"
 "I believe you," Fitch chimed in. "You see, Chief," he explained to Manning, "this Lieutenant of yours has made the capture of the Hindoos more or less of a personal matter."
 A choppy laugh from the detective interrupted the physician.
 "Yes," he agreed, "I don't mind telling you that I'm almost as eager to get those fellows as I am to recover the widow's jewels. They got just a little bit too gay with me for their own good." He flushed slightly as he recalled how utterly he had been at the mercy of the Hindoos when he lay like a holiday turkey on the floor of that bare room in the unoccupied uptown apartment.
 "The Hindoos," said Britz, "went through the apartments of Sands and Griswold with what Sam Weller would call a double-million-magnifying microscope. They didn't leave a postage stamp unsearched. They looked into every hole and corner, ransacked every drawer, and turned every place inside out. I caught 'em at it—two of them, anyway—in Sands' room, and they're now in the West Thirtieth Street Station. They must have gone through Griswold's apartment first, for it was there, I guess, they found this note from Millicent to 'Curtis dear,' and it was this note that gave me a line on how brother Griswold stood with the lady of the Hotel Renaissance. I knew Griswold was in the habit of visiting that hotel, but I didn't know whom he went there to see. I felt pretty certain when I got the note that it came from somebody in the Renaissance, and I got Rawson to send the bunch out on the hunt so that I could make certain I'd made no mistake.
 "One of the men reported there was a Mme. Delaroche at the Renaissance. That looked good enough to me. I went there that same night, with the doctor on the sidewalk, as the lookout. I did a little burglary stunt that would have landed the jewels if the Hindoos had not got there ahead of me. In some way or other, those fellows learned about the acquaintance between Griswold and the Delaroche lady about the same time I did, or perhaps a little earlier. One of them got into her apartment by the fire escape route and sneaked the jewels from under her pillow. What's more, he contented himself with the diamonds themselves, and didn't even take the casket they were in. The jewel case was still under her pillow when I got there, and it wasn't until after the lady, under the impression the gems were in the case, gave herself away more or less, that I found the little box was empty. When I looked out on the fire escape, I saw the handkerchief the dark-skinned crackman had dropped in his hurry. That sent us hot-footed to the Swami's house."
 When Britz had sketched the history of the Missioner case, Manning and Fitch looked at him admiringly. Both his hearers were thoughtful for a minute or two. Then the Chief, though he realized Britz had solved the mystery, could not refrain from picking flaws.
 "You have not explained fully," he said, "how Griswold contrived to smuggle the small diamond into Miss Holcomb's room."
 "Nor how the old curiosity dealer had the visiting card of Bruxton Sands," suggested the doctor hesitantly. He disliked to seem over-critical of a man who had done so much for Elinor.
 "Neither have you worked out an explanation of the fact that it was a woman who gave the order to the three French firms for the manufacture of the false diamonds, and that she gave the name of Elinor Holcomb," Manning pursued. "You'll have to make that clear to Mott, I'm thinking."
 "I don't quite understand why the Hindoos kidnaped you, Lieutenant," added Fitch tentatively.
 Britz smiled.
 "Mere details," Britz replied. "First, Griswold did not smuggle the diamond into Miss Holcomb's room. That little trick was pulled off by All. He was the only one who could have done it, and his reason for wanting to throw suspicion on the young woman is plain. He was in the house to get the necklace and he also wanted to make a sure getaway. Therefore, he figured, if the jewels should be missed before he was able to get them out of the house, it would help his chances of escape to have suspicion thrown on the secretary. The diamond that was found among her things did not belong to the collarette. But its size and luster matched any one of a dozen of the stones in that magnificent setting, so that all of us took it for granted it was Mrs. Missioner's property."
 "Very good," parried the Chief. "How about the other points?"
 "It needs no vivid imagination," said Britz, "to picture Curtis Griswold employing a young woman to take the drawings to the French manufacturers and telling her to introduce herself as Elinor Holcomb, or by any other name he desired."
 Manning nodded reluctantly, Fitch approvingly.
 "As for old Martin's possession of Sands' card," continued the Lieutenant, "I see no explanation about that except that Griswold handed it to him. There seems to be a streak of malicious mischief in our club friend. As a side exploit in pulling off a big crime, he would enjoy making trouble for another—especially for a man he had reason to fear as a rival, which was the case with Sands. It may be he even hoped to cast suspicion permanently on the millionaire, though that seems hardly possible. Even when Sands acted so mysteriously in regard to that letter he recovered from the Hindoo burglar, he did not make me suspect he had stolen the diamonds, the strongest suspicion I had was that he might be shielding the thief, and that didn't last long."
 "And your own little adventure?" asked the chief of detectives with a trace of malice.
 "Oh, that was only a precaution on their part. They took the chance I might have recovered the Maharane, I suppose. Maybe they expected to find in my possession something that would give them a clue to the whereabouts of the stone. Then, once they got me, they thought they might as well keep me out of the running until they got what they wanted. It was no part of their plan to let me find the jewels and turn them over to Mrs. Missioner."
 "You had a close call there, Lieutenant," observed the physician.
 "Close enough," said Britz calmly. "But it's all in the day's work."
 As Britz finished there was a timid tap on the door. In response to Manning's curt "Come in!" Donnelly and Carson crossed the threshold, and did their best to stand at ease in front of the Lieutenant's desk.
 "You sent, huh, for us, Chief?"
 "Yes," said Manning. "Lieutenant Britz wants you to attend to a little matter for him."
 "Yes, Donnelly," said Britz coolly; "if you have nothing better to do just now, suppose you run up to Curtis Griswold's apartment, and tell him the Chief wants to talk to him."
 "Suppose he won't come," said Donnelly, who evidently did not yet suspect it was desired that the clubman be taken into custody.
 "Bring him, then," said Britz. "You haven't forgotten how to show a gentleman down to Headquarters, have you?"
 Donnelly winced under the Lieutenant's scorn, and Carson turned gray.
 "And you, Mr. Carson," said Britz, renewing his instructions, "be good enough to take a trip to the Hotel Renaissance, and ask Mrs. Delaroche to come down to see us for a little while."

BREAKING OUT
 SPREAD ON LEG

Formed Large Blotches, Itching Terrible, Ugly Sores Would Break Open and Run. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Few Weeks.

Hiltop, Kan.—"About two years ago I began to notice a breaking out on my leg. At first it was very small but soon it began to spread until it formed large blotches. The itching was terrible and almost constant. Many nights I could not sleep at all. After scratching it to relieve the itching it would burn so dreadfully that I thought I could not stand it. For nearly a year I tried all kinds of salves and ointment, but found no relief. Some salves seemed to make it worse until there were ugly sores, which would break open and run.
 "One day I saw an advertisement of Cuticura Remedies. I got a sample of the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and began by washing the sores with the Cuticura Soap then applying the Cuticura Ointment twice a day. I noticed a change and got more Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a few weeks I was cured. It has healed so nicely that no scar remains." (Signed) Mrs. Anna A. Lew, Dec. 17, 1911.
 Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skins, itching, scaly scalp, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and shapeless nails with painful pin-heads, that it is almost criminal not to use them. WENT TO CHAMPAIGN.
George Gehant went to Champaign this morning to visit his sisters, who are attending the state university, and to witness the Chicago-Illinois football game.

ICHABOD
So fallen! so lost! the light withdrawn
Which once he wore!
The glory from his gray hairs gone
Forevermore!
Reville him not,—the Tempter aath
A snare for all;
And pitying tears, not scorn and wrath,
Befit his fall!

O, dumb be passions stormy rage,—
When he who might
Have lighted up and led his age,
Falls back in night.

Scorn! would the angels laugh to mark
A bright soul driven,
Fiend-goaded, down the endless
dark,
From hope and heaven!

Let not the land once proud of him
Insult him now,
Nor brand with deeper shame his dim,
Dishonored brow.

But let its humbled sons, instead,
From sea to lake,
A long lament, as for the dead,
In sadness make.

Of all we loved and honored,
naught
Save power remains—
A fallen angel's pride of thought,
Still strong in chains.

All else is gone, from those great eyes

The soul has fled:
When faith is lost, when honor dies,
The man is dead!

Then pay the reverence of old days
to his dead fame;
Walk backward, with averted gaze,
And hide the shame!
—Whittier.

This poem was inspired by Daniel Webster's "7th of March Speech," wherein he manifested a disposition to compromise with the wrong of slavery—Webster is the Ichabod of the poem.

THE FOOTBALLIST.
His brow was wrinkled in a frown,
His cheek was dented, rough and brown,

His countenance was grim;
His hair a streaming aureole,
Seemed, as he hurtled to the goal,
A mad chrysanthemum.

His nose was in a rubber shield
That gouged great furrows in the field

And yielded not an inch;
His arms were massive in their strength
And terrifying in their length
And awful in their clinch.

His feet, when'er he got the ball,
Like automobiles dashed, and all
Were mangled in his path.
And O, he howled in such a way
No Plute Indian could essay
Such medium of wrath.

His teeth were strewn across the grid
When in a tackle he would skid;
He sent men in a trance.
The referees, by him appalled,
As he mowed down the players,
called

The busy ambulance.
Geo. Schulth eitsJona 13 CMFW
And all the ladies smiled in glee,
Ejaculating "Wee—Oh Wee!"
(Which is their way to hoot.)

There, in the grandstand, they exclaimed

The while he wrecked and slammed and maimed:
"How lovely! Ain't he cute?"

ESCAPE OF DIAZ
It is said that Diaz, the late leader of the revolution in Mexico who was supposed to be in prison waiting the carrying out of a death sentence pronounced against him, has made his escape and is not going to be executed at all. Not just at present.
If Diaz got away we may safely believe that it was with the aid and consent of the Mexican government, consent of the Mexican government. Having captured him they did not know what to do with him. The government thinks nothing of shooting a batch of privates at sunrise, but when it captures a general with some influence it hesitates about using such drastic measures.
If Diaz has escaped, of which there seems to be some doubt, then the Mexican government, or a trusted representative of the president, unlocked the doors or else left the key hanging where he could find it.

Frank Smith has gone to Lanesboro, Ia., to visit his sister, Mrs. J. L. Ditts.

WARNING TO ILLINOIS FARMERS
Illinois Farmers' Institute Asks the Farmers to Study Results Obtained by Experiment Stations.

In view of the fact that manufacturers of complete fertilizers are extensively advertising their products by means of circulars, editorials in irresponsible agricultural papers and agents sent out by so-called Fertilizing Associations, it becomes the duty of the Illinois Farmers' Institute to warn the farmers of Illinois against misleading statements made by these agencies and call attention to the fact that there is probably more profit to the fertilizer manufacturers and dealers in the $30 received from the sale of two tons of acid phosphate (made from one ton of raw rock and one ton of sulphuric acid, and still more profit in perhaps $80 received from the sale of four tons of "complete fertilizer" (made from two tons of acid phosphate and two tons of filler, containing small amounts of nitrogen and potassium) than there would be in $6 or $8 from one ton of fine ground natural rock phosphate carrying the same amount of phosphorus.

Garbled Quotations
Some of these agencies referred to use methods that are misleading, if not absolutely untruthful; they even resort to garbling quotations from reports of experiment station work to show that raw rock phosphate is not useful as a fertilizer, and we earnestly urge the farmers of Illinois to carefully study the results obtained on the experiment fields of other states as well as our own before accepting the unfair and misleading statements of promoters of private, selfish manufacturers, dealers and agents.

Authentic Information.
We have an abundance of authentic information on this subject, and the same is freely available to all who will take a little trouble to investigate. The facts are that the results of experiments in Ohio, Massachusetts, Maryland, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and Illinois show conclusively that fine ground natural rock phosphate is a more economical source of phosphorus than acid phosphate for use in general farming in definite systems of soil improvement.

Most Conclusive Results.
But of far greater value to American agriculture perhaps than any other along this line are the investigations of the Ohio experiment station, which covers 12 years of as careful investigation as has ever been conducted. This work is reported in Vol. 15, Illinois Farmers' Institute Report, P. P. 93-103, copy of which may be had by applying to any officer of a county farmers' institute in Illinois.

Results in Ohio.
In the Ohio experiments a three-year rotation was practiced, consisting of corn the first year, wheat with clover seeding the second year and the regular clover crop the third year, these crops being rotated so that every crop is represented every year. In each field there are two plots that are treated with manure alone which is applied to the clover sod at the rate of 8 tons per acre and plowed under for corn, no further application being made for the wheat or clover. There are two other plots in each field treated with the same amount of manure to which has been added 40 pounds of raw rock phosphate with each ten of manure, and there are still two other plots on which, likewise, the same quantity and kind of manure is used to each ton of which is added 40 pounds of acid phosphate.
As an average of all the data from the 12 years' experiments, the increase from the raw rock phosphate has been practically identical with that from the acid phosphate, while the cost of treatment was twice as great with acid phosphate as with the raw rock, while twice as much phosphorus has been applied in the application of acid phosphate, so that at the close of 12 years the raw phosphate plots contain as much applied phosphorus as the total application made in the acid phosphate. In case of the clover crop, which has power to secure nitrogen from the air, or should have if the soil contains plenty of lime, the rock phosphate has produced distinctly better results than the acid phosphate, the average difference being .08 of a ton per acre or 54 cents worth of Lay at $8 per ton.

Why not secure these valuable reports of experiments carefully conducted by our paid employees, and be guided by them rather than by the statements of, and circulars issued by those who have selfish interests to serve?—Illinois Farmers' Institute.

ST. JAMES NOTES.

Nov. 13—Mrs. Martha Shippert and family entertained George Patterson and sisters, Misses Clara and Ida Sunday. Also Mr. and Mrs. Lowmeyer.

Mrs. Martha Shippert and son Ed were in Dixon today.

Farmers are busy picking corn. Some have finished while others began today.

Speaking of having April showers in the middle of November. Some people think it very strange. While it may seem so to some people, in 1862, in the month of December, cannot just remember the exact date but near the middle of the month it snowed. And such thunder and lightning. Finally it partly cleared away and the loveliest rainbow came out. That happened in Fayetteville, Pa., Franklin county, the home of the George Brunner and a gentleman friend of Dixon were out on the former's farm for a load of corn today.

Ralph Lehman caught a rest Wednesday, as it was too wet to shred corn.

Eph Horner was out Wednesday putting a paper roof on his horse stable.

Pat Duffy was in Dixon yesterday on business.

Adolph Ebers started to pick corn today.

YOU NEED THE BEST.

Everyone wishes to remain young and vigorous, but as the days, weeks and years go flitting by, many find themselves weakened and prematurely aged, because of some obscure catarrhal or nervous trouble.

No matter whether it is catarrh with its disastrous effects upon the ears, bronchial tubes, stomach, bladder or kidneys, whether it is nervous debility with its wrecking influence upon one's general health and happiness, or whether it may be any of the other common chronic diseases, you certainly need treatment, and, needing treatment, you need the best.

Dr. Prettyman employs the latest and most improved methods in treating the above ailments. You can consult him free at the Nachusa Hotel, Monday, Nov. 25.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER ABSOLUTELY PURE

Cooking is a matter which concerns the whole family, and under modern methods and conveniences it is made so attractive the whole family is becoming interested, if not taking part in it.

"These biscuits are delicious; this cake is excellent," says the father. "I made them," says the daughter, and both father and daughter beam with pleasure.

It is a crime, with our modern agencies, helps and facilities, to have soggy biscuit, or wooden cake, or leaden pastry.

Royal Baking Powder has made home baking a success, a pleasure and a profit, and the best cooking today the world over is done with its aid.

WOULD SACRIFICE

LIFE FOR MOTHER
Freeport, Nov. 16.—Special to Telegraph—Left destitute by a runaway father, a 16 year old girl of South Freeport took rough on rats in an effort to end her life that her mother might get the benefit of a life insurance policy that was held upon her life, and thereby lighten her struggling parent's effort to gain a livelihood. The little girl got the poison from a neighbor, saying that she wanted to kill a dog. The arrival of a physician saved the girl's life.

Mrs. Joe Petersberger and daughter will leave soon for California to spend the winter.

Mrs. Harms, wife of Dr. Harms of Chicago, was a guest last evening at the G. T. Parker home, while on her way to Waterloo, Ia.

W. D. Drew will have a carload of chestnut hard coal on the track the first of the week.

DIXON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

All contributions to this part of the Dixon Telegraph should be sent to Paul Byers, Department Editor.

Seating the Gym.

The board of control met Tuesday night after school and decided to put seats in the gym, for the coming season of basketball. If they have as large a crowd this winter as last, it will be a case of necessity for the seats. They will be placed at the south end of the gym and extend the whole length. The seats will be the same as at the Y. M. C. A. The work will begin in the very near future.

Sophomore Party.

The sophomores were entertained Friday night at the home of Miss Gooch in Palmyra. They all went out in a hayrack. All enjoyed themselves playing games and dancing. Refreshments were served before the guests departed.

Poor Freshmen.

Dreaming is a very common event, which every person nevertheless possesses. It is a course of bad policy for people to be dreaming all the time; they should show some signs of being awake, even if it is born in them. The Freshmen everyone knows have been dreaming all year, if they do not soon show some signs of awakening we will all think they have it born in them. Let us hope not, nevertheless.

A New Member.

Mr. Wingert of Mt. Carroll, formerly a student of that school, is now a member of the sophomore class of the Dixon high school.

Literary Societies.

The Literary societies met at the usual time Friday afternoon. Many good debates and speeches were given. The current events of the time was also discussed by members of the societies. It has been decided that the societies will all meet together Wednesday before Thanksgiving and give a program before the school. Two members of each society will be on the program. Good debates and talks will be given on that day.

Seniors Becoming Impatient.

The seniors have been worrying themselves about when the juniors will treat them. Well the seniors will wait until the juniors get ready. They intend to treat them but not until they increase their treasury. It may not be until next summer.

We call the attention of the Telegraph to our special holiday offer—The Evening Telegraph delivered at your door; the Weekly Inter Ocean and Farmer; The Farm and Home, all for one year; also an assortment of Christmas postal cards, Christmas folders, large tags, small tags, seals, do-not-open stickers, etc., in all 226 pieces. This offer is made to those whose subscription is paid to date, and not those in arrears. Price $5.40 for all.

DIXON COLLEGE NOTES

Rev. Whitcombe was with us again Tuesday and gave to the student body the first of a series of lectures or talks along the line of history of musical development. Music in some form has been found in all nations, races and savage tribes. The musical instruments of ancient tribes resembled those used in warfare. Song and dance were notable features of the music of the adult savage, also the tones were analogous to those made by a child. Much skill is found in the formation of the musical instruments of the early savage. They were made chiefly of bone, wood, metal, shell, etc. The first were wind instruments; the second were made to be beaten on as are drums, tambourines, etc., and third came the stringed instruments. The oldest history of music is that of China. They go back as far as 2300 B. C. The speech of the Chinese is naturally musical in that it is monosyllabic. The bell probably came from China.

E. T. Bailey, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was present at chapel exercises Friday morning and his remarks were confined mainly to suggestions along the line of modus operandi for the football team in connection with their game with the Loyola U. of Chicago on Saturday. His remarks were based on the story of David and Goliath of old as related in the Book of Books. He held that David's success was due primarily to his careful preparation for his meeting with Goliath. Secondly to the fact that he was optimistic and self-confident and lastly to the encouragement and inspiration he received from his backers and hosts who were cheering him on. He would, therefore, advise the student body, the college hosts, who may witness the game on Saturday to stick together and have a good yell-master that they may assist materially in winning the game.

Terry Gotham of Chetek, Wisconsin, a graduate of our commercial department of last year is with us again. He can "come back" and we are glad to welcome him as one of our football players. His record of last season speaks for itself, so we need not call further attention to his reputation as an athlete.

Miss Hattie Clark of Shaws has gone home to remain until after Thanksgiving.

Miss Vera Foley of Harmon is visiting at the college over Sunday.

NITRO FOR M'NAMARA

Says He Sold Stuff That Blew Up the Times.

Witness at Dynamite Trial Says Wrecker Bought 500 Pounds of Explosive—McManigal Halted.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 16.—James B. McNamara's purchase of 500 pounds of nitrogelatin, with part of which he blew up the Los Angeles Times building, was described at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial by George Phillips, assistant superintendent of a powder company. Phillips testified that on September 23, 1910, seven days before the Los Angeles explosion, he delivered to three men at the powder company's wharf at Oakland ten cases of the explosive, each case weighing 50 pounds. One of the men, said the witness, was McNamara, another was a man "with a bad left eye" and the third "looked like a Mexican."

The witness, who said the men loaded the explosive on the launch Peerless and left, identified various receipts and bills and wrappings of the explosive which had been exhibited before the Los Angeles grand jury. The witness said nine cases of the nitrogelatin afterward were recovered by the San Francisco police.

Frederick A. Rehmkne of San Francisco told of having sold tarpaulin to David Caplan, one of McNamara's accomplices, who "looked like a foreigner." The tarpaulin was used by the dynamiters to cover the explosive.

Orlio E. McManigal's testimony was interrupted by the government to "examine other witnesses. More than 100 witnesses, including 30 from the Pacific coast, are in waiting.

In his testimony, so far McManigal has named 17 of the 45 men on trial for alleged role in shipment of explosives as having assisted him in causing explosions or as having been represented to him as knowing about the dynamite plot.

Demand Surrender of Tchatalja Army and Its Withdrawal Under Guard.

PAYMENT OF WAR INDEMNITY

Evacuation by Turks of Adrianople, Scutari, Monastir, Internationalization of Constantinople, Opening of Dardanelles.

Constantinople, Nov. 16.—An official statement issued here contains a dispatch from the Turkish commandant at Scutari reporting a Turkish victory over seven battalions of Montenegrins who were advancing on the heights of Kakarik. In another official statement the government denounces the reports of Turkish massacres as infamous, appending supporting statements by seven foreign war correspondents.

Athens, Nov. 16.—The Greek fleet has occupied Mulyand island and the Turkish peninsula of Mount Athos in the Aegean sea, according to wireless messages from the commander. There are 10,000 monks in monasteries on Mulyand island. The royal yacht Amphitriton, with Queen Olga on board, has arrived at Salonika escorted by 27 Greek merchant vessels.

London, Nov. 16.—According to a dispatch to the Morning Post from Constantinople, Bulgaria demanded the surrender of the Turkish army at Tchatalja within 48 hours and when that time elapsed Kiamil Pasha, the grand vizier, called at the Russian embassy and discoursed on the subject of peace in the presence of M. Popoff, first dragoman of the Bulgarian legation, who has been staying at the Russian embassy since the outbreak of the war.

According to the Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegraph the Bulgarian terms of peace as laid before the Turkish government consist of seven stipulations:

The surrender of the Tchatalja army and its withdrawal, guarded by Bulgarians.

The evacuation by the Turks of Adrianople, Scutari, Monastir and Larina.

Payment of a war indemnity.

The surrender of conquered territory.

The internationalization of Constantinople.

The opening of the Dardanelles and the making of Salonika a free port.

Bulgars Approach Constantinople.

Dispatches from Sofia state that the Bulgarian forces have reached the city of Killos on the Black sea at the entrance to the Bosphorus and within a few miles of Constantinople. They have also occupied Dardos at the Black sea entrance to the Tchatalja lines, and so control the water supply of the Turkish capital.

In addition the Bulgarian force sent against the apex of the slightly triangular Turkish line has smashed the center of the defense at Tchatalja.

Cholera Cases Total 8,000.

The ravages of cholera are increasing hourly among the Turkish troops in the field and among the wounded in Constantinople. There is now a total of nearly 8,000 cases, 700 more having been reported. The disease has increased the demoralization of the Turkish troops and it is not believed that they can hold out more than three days more at the most.

FRECKLES

A most notable event, counted from the great dramatic successes of the latter part of last season and one which promises to surpass any of the hits of this one, will be the presentation of Neil Twomey's dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's greatest success, "Freckles," which will be the attraction at the opera house on next Thursday, Nov. 21, under the direct management of A. G. Delamater, who has in the past given to the stage some of its most worthy successes, is responsible for its staging, and as in Beverly and others, has left nothing to be suggested—in company, scenery and effects.

When it was remembered that Freckles has been read by over a million souls; that it proved the best of the best sellers, the great demand to see it on the stage, with its living, breathing characters is readily understood. There is an intense desire to see Freckles, the nameless waif, to follow him through his adventures in the great Lumberlost Swamp, with his engaging personality, and his love story with The Angel; to become acquainted with his benefactor, McLean; to see Mrs. Dun can, with her motherly love for Freckles, and all the other well-drawn characters. There are tears to be shed over the vicissitudes of this hero's life and there are many laughs coming from his quaint philosophy and ready wit.

"BEN-HUR"

Scores a Distinct Triumph in Chicago.

Klaw & Erlanger's international production, "Ben-Hur," scored a distinct triumph at the Colonial theatre Chicago on Monday evening last. As now arranged and staged Ben Hur is unquestionably the most impressive demonstration of stagecraft ever offered by a modern spectacle. It is the seeming limit of all the possibilities of theatrical mechanism and effects—the final word in lightning, the management of stage crowds and arrangement of stage illusions. Every inch of the theatre's great working arena is utilized in the formation of the mammoth pictures. The Star of Bethlehem; The Sinking of the Roman Galley; The Fountain of Castalia; The Temple of Apollo in the Grove of Dapane; The Lake in the Orchard of Palms; and The Mount of Olives with the multitude assembled appealing to the Nazarene to be clean of their afflictions. The chariot race was never more realistically shown. Sixteen horses driven in quad ruple teams by four drivers, speed in full career for victory as thoroughbred racers do today on the big race tracks of the country.

Refreshing and unusual as the pictorial splendor of Ben Hur has always been, the present delivery of it is beyond description. Ben Hur has never been done in this country as it is now being shown at the Colonial. Its stormy scenes, sensuous paintings and tableaux its distances, celestial reaches and awesome spiritual atmosphere seem made to be illustrated on this dignified and stupendous scale.

The Ben Hur seen at the Colonial theatre, Chicago, is limited to four weeks. No Sunday performances.

WM. B. McMAHAN, Clerk.

WOMEN SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Against So Many Surgical Operations. How Mrs. Bethune and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

Sikeston, Mo., Nov. 16.—For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl. —Mrs. DEM BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but I dreaded it so that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation." —Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 3, Murrayville, Ill.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Willis Hoppe, the youthful title holder, outplayed George Slosson, the crafty veteran, in the fourth night's play in the tournament for the 182 balkline billiard championship. Score: Hoppe, 500; Slosson, 234.

In the other evening game Ora Morningstar was extended to beat George Sutton. The former won by 500 to 385, but not until he had made the record run—167—of the tournament.

In the afternoon's play Demarest defeated Taylor, 500 to 497, and Yamaeda beat Cline, 500 to 404.

Federation Elects Mrs. Dow. Aurora, Ill., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Frederick A. Dow, president of the Archa club of Chicago, was elected president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, it was announced at the convention.
